

Who is NumisBids for?

NumisBids is designed for numismatic dealers who sell through printed catalogs and online auctions.

What will NumisBids do?

NumisBids will:

- bring you new customers by promoting your auctions online
- provide hosting for your auction photos and descriptions
- securely accept bids from customers and deliver them to you

How is NumisBids different?

NumisBids is better than its competitors because:

- it is independent — not controlled by an owner or employee of any auction house
- it is integrated with CoinArchives, the Web's best numismatic research platform, which will help you reach more customers
- it offers attractive pricing options to best suit your company
- it presents a modern and easy-to-use design to show your auctions in the best light
- it provides responsive, high quality customer service
- it focuses on the needs of collectors to keep them interested and returning to the site
- it is actively managed by a company with extensive experience in the numismatic auction business

How can I try it?

Email us at contact@numisbids.com, and we'll be happy to discuss options for advertising your printed and online auctions. When writing to us, please tell us about the following:

- your business history, including your experience in the numismatic and auction business
- any memberships you have in national or international dealer organizations
- the types of auctions you conduct (printed and/or online) and their frequency
- an approximate estimate of the value of each of your sales
- links to examples of auctions you've presented in the past
